Case Study Based Question-

1. In 2015, Naveen left his luxurious life in Mumbai, where he worked as a manager for Blue Birds Ltd. He shifted to Begampur, Chhattisgarh to fulfil his grandmother's dream of converting their 25-acre ancestral land into a fertile farm. For this, he set out specific goals along with the activities to be performed to achieve the goals. Every activity was a challenge since he was clueless about farming. He learnt every activity from filling the land to sowing the seeds. To aid farmers he launched his own company 'Innovative Agriculture Solutions Pvt. Ltd.'.

It was difficult initially as no one trusted an urban youth telling farmers about farming. But when everything was discussed in detail, the farmers started taking interest. He wanted to ensure that the future events meet effectively the best interests of the company. Through sales forecasting, he prepared an annual plan for production and sales.

He also found that the farmers grew only paddy, which was an activity of 3 - 4 months and the land remained idle for the rest 8 - 9 months of the year. He not only identified but evaluated various alternatives through which the farms could be utilised for the remaining months of the year. Through correct foresight and logical and systematic thinking based on analysis of all facts, all alternatives were examined and evaluated. He presented a plan to the farmers, where after harvesting paddy, vegetables could be grown. The above case highlights the features of one of the functions of management. By quoting lines from the above identify and explain these features.

2. Mr. Vinod, chairman of Vinod Construction Co., is involved in constructing residential flats in Ludhiana. Recently, he has got the contract of constructing 500 flats for which payment will be received in instalments from customers. He conducts a meeting with his architects, interior decorators, staff and labour contractors like Mason, Electrician, Plumber etc. He gives the goal of constructing 500 flats within a year. After looking at disaster created by Nepal earthquakes, he instructed his architects to make arrangements for earthquake resistance building. Different departments were created for different nature of work and work was divided in such a way that it helps in avoiding confusion and misunderstanding. During summer season, lot of labour moves back from cities to their native places/ villages due to harvest season, so, provision of this should also be taken care of. Sometimes, as per the situation, managers have to choose among various alternative course of action. The managers are given the target of completing at least 10% of work every month and actual work done will be compared with the target and necessary action would be taken if deviations would be found there.

By quoting lines from the given paragraph link it to the various importance of planning as a function of management.

Very Short Answers-

1. Ans. Planning is deciding in advance as to what needs to be done in future.
2. Ans. Planning.
3. Ans. Planning.
4. Ans. Planning
5. Ans. Intelligence, Imagination, Foresight, Sound Judgment.
6. Ans. Planning is futuristic.
7. Ans. Planning creates rigidity by putting adverse effect on initiative taken by the managers.
8. Ans. Forecasts.
9. Ans. Planning does not guarantee success.
10. Ans. Setting objectives.

Short Answer -

- 1. Ans. Planning is deciding in advance about work to be done in future. It is that function of management which lays down the objectives and various actions to be taken for the achievement of those objectives. According to Koontz and O'Donnel "Planning is an intellectual process, the conscious determination of courses of action, the basing of decision on purpose, facts and considered estimated".
- 2. Ans. A plan is a formulation of certain steps and actions which are essential for achieving certain specific results. Plans can be classified on the basis of what they focus to achieve and the methods adopted viz. objectives, strategy, policy etc. For example, if the planned output for a week is 1,000 units and actual output is 580 units only, the planners have to critically review their plans and modify: them, if need be, so as to achieve the planned output.
- 3. Ans. Importance of planning is as under:
- (i) It provides direction for action.
  - (ii) It reduces the risk of uncertainty
  - (iii) It facilitates decision making.
  - (iv) It establishes standards for controlling.
  - (v) It promotes innovative ideas.
  - (vi) It reduces overlapping and wasteful activities.
- 4. Ans. Planning is not the function of top management or any particular department only. It is required at all the levels of management and in all departments of an organisation. However the scope and nature of planning is different at different levels and in different departments. For example the top management lays down the plans for the organisation as a whole. Middle level management has to make plans for each department and the plans regarding the daily operations of an organisation are laid down by operational management.
- 5. Ans. Planning is always for the future and never for the past. It involves peeping in to future, analyzing and preparing plans accordingly. Thus, planning is futuristic as it helps in meeting likely future events effectively and efficiently to best advantage of the organisation. For example, on the basis of sales forecasts, annual plans for production and sales are drawn.
- 6. Ans. Planning is essentially a process of making choice from among various alternatives. There will be no need for planning, if there is only one course of action, because there will be no choice. Hence need for planning depends on the availability of alternatives. A manager, after examining and evaluating the various alternatives, chooses the most appropriate one.
- 7. Ans. Usually in an organisation, planning function is performed by the top management and the rest of the members are required to implement these plans. As a result, middle management and other members are neither allowed to deviate from plans nor are they granted authority to act on their own. Hence most of the initiative and creativity in them gets reduced.

8. Ans. An organisation is successful only when the plans are effectively drawn and implemented.

A plan must be converted into action otherwise it becomes meaningless. Generally, it is seen that managers are in the habit of depending on previously tried and tested successful plans. But this practice sometimes does not work and may actually lead to failure instead of success.

9. Ans. Steps of planning are as follows:

- (i) Setting up of objectives
- (ii) Developing premises.
- (iii) Identifying alternative courses of action.
- (iv) Evaluating alternative courses
- (v) Selecting an alternative.
- (vi) Implementation of plan.
- (vii) Follow up

10. Ans. Objective can be defined as a position where the management wants to reach in the future. These are the ends which an organisation wants to achieve through its operations. They are measurable in quantitative terms. For example, one objective of an organisation may be to increase sales by 20% and return on investment by 10% in the forthcoming year.

Long Answers-

1. Ans. It has been rightly said that defining organizational objectives is the first step in the process of planning. Other steps in the process of planning are as follows:

- (i) Establish planning premises

This step involves the establishment of planning premises in which plans are, expected to operate. Planning premises are assumptions relating to future conditions and events which are likely to have an effect on achievement of goals

- (ii) Identifying alternative courses of action

Under this step, various possible alternatives for reaching objectives should be identified by managers.

- (iii) Evaluating Alternative Courses

This step involves deep evaluation of various alternative courses of action in light of the various objectives to be achieved. The positive and negative aspect of each alternative is evaluated.

- (iv) Selecting an alternative

This step involves the selection of the most optimum and realistic plan with least negative results.

- (v) Implement the plan

Under this step the best selected plan is put in to action.

(vi) Follow up

Under this step, it is monitored whether the plans are being implement and whether the activities are being performed according to the schedule.

2. Ans.

Difference between procedures and rules

Basis	Procedures	Rules
1. Meaning	Procedure is a guide for action in a given situation.	Rule is a code of conduct governing or restricting flexibility or discretion
2. Nature	Procedures are specified in chronological order.	Rules do not place activities in chronological order
3. Purpose	The purpose of procedure is to facilitate and simplify the operation and eliminate duplication.	The purpose of rule is to maintain discipline in an organization.
4. Scope	The scope of procedures is wide because it has Its own rules and regulations.	A rule has no procedure.

3. Ans.

Characteristics of Planning:

1. Goal Oriented: Goals or objectives are the end results towards which activity is directed. The first stage of planning is the conscious and explicit statement of the ultimate objectives.
2. Primacy of Planning: Among various functions of management planning occupies the foremost position. Planning precedes the execution of all other managerial functions because it provides a frame of reference for future decisions. Allows managers to organize staff directly and control the activities necessary to achieve the organizational goals.
3. Pervasiveness of Planning: Planning is needed for all activities at all levels although the nature and extent of planning vary with the delegated authority or position a person is holding in the organizational hierarchy and with the board guidelines provided by his superiors.
4. Intellectual Process: Planning involves logical thinking and decision making. It implies determining what is to be done; how and when it is to be done and by whom. All these decisions require ability, experience, and foresightedness on the part of the management.
5. Continuous function: Planning is a continuous activity. As a matter of fact, the planning process continues so long as an enterprise is in existence.
6. Flexibility: Effective plans have an element of flexibility! Management can't afford to follow rigid plans in the era of fast changes in the technology market, government policy, etc.

As we all know, the resources of an organization are limited. Planning aims at providing the blueprints to optimum utilization of given resources to achieve the desired goals. Thus it can be concluded that no enterprise can achieve its objectives without systematic planning.

4. Ans.

Planning is important for better management of business planning determines objective, decides the course of action, removes uncertainty results in economics in operation, and makes control possible its importance is analyzed as below.

1. Takes care of future uncertainties: Future is full of uncertainties planning takes care of all future uncertainties and minimizes business risks since it makes effective use of forecasting techniques.

2. Focuses attention on objectives: All planning is directed towards achieving the objectives of an enterprise. Planning makes these objectives more concrete and tangible by determining the program's policies, procedures that provide guidelines to the employees to achieve these objectives.

3. Facilitates decision making: Decision making is the core of planning. It is the process of developing and selecting a course of action from among the various alternatives available. Planning provides a framework for decision-making by specifying the organizational objectives and planning premises.

4. Facilitates Control: Controlling is the process that measures current performance against desired standards to ensure that the objectives are attained according to plans. Control is always exercised in the light of planning which provides performance standards in quantitative terms.

5. Promotes efficiency: Proper planning ensures better utilization of organizational resources. Planning involves the selection of the best or most profitable course of action. This reduces the idle time for workers, machines, and so on.

6. Helps in Co-ordination: Planning is necessary for the organization as a whole. Derivative plans are prepared for each department within the limits of the master plan. Thus planning leads to the coordination of activities of all the departments in order to achieve the basic objective of the organization.
